

UNUSUAL SUMMER ENTRY IN MONMOUTH DOG SHOW

More Than Six Hundred Canines to Be on Display Before Judges.

JULY 20 IS AMATEUR DAY
Novices Will Be Attraction
Then, Including Several Debutantes.

If the management of the Monmouth County Kennel Club should advertise their exhibition as "the greatest show on earth" it would not be far from the truth, for the entry lists of all breeds are full to overflowing and run well into the four figures. The ruling power did aspire to making the show a four-point show, but later this idea was abandoned as being among the impossibilities for a summer show. Eleven hundred entries have been received with 610 dogs, which is well over the three-point mark.

July 20 will be amateur day at Long Branch, for it is the novices which will be the star attraction at the Monmouth County Show and several debutantes will make their initial bow to the public. Not all of these will be young either. Some of them will be household pets who will be introduced to the limelight after a quiet existence which knows not the vicissitudes of a prize-winning expedition. At least one-third of the dogs entered are owned by residents of the summer colonies on the Jersey coast.

Miss Vera Catchpole of Dulwich, England, has received a remarkably large entry list. The breeds in her jurisdiction are fox terriers, Sealyhams, Pomeranians, Pekingese, toy poodles, black and tan terriers and Griffons Brussels. The Pekingese, being favored by both her and in England, promise to be a special attraction. The strength of the classes which will introduce several new and costly importations, and also the large entry in Pomeranians and fox terriers in the nature of a compliment to Miss Catchpole, will make her initial appearance in this country as an expert. Two other women, Miss Margaret Bingham of North Grafton, Mass., and Mrs. W. W. Hadley, Sea Cliff, L. I., will judge and they too have well filled classes. The former will take the English, West Highland White and Dandie Dinmont terriers and Mrs. Hadley will have the toy spaniels, Japanese spaniels and Yorkshire and Maltese terriers.

There will be a separate classification for German and Belgium sheep dogs, which is an innovation, and here those who are interested in the past performance will have a chance to see some of the greatest detectives in the world. It is hard to believe as one gazes at the big, sheep-looking dogs that they will trail and overcome dangerous criminals, and yet these sheep dogs are indefatigable and implacable, when once they are sent out on duty. Nothing daunts them, they follow their trail over an eight-foot fence if necessary. L. I. de Winter of Guttenburg and Frederick Emken will show some famous gladiators in the exhibition of sheep dogs to these judges. The imported criminal hunters there will be a splendid showing of bloodhounds by the police department, which will make the largest entry of police dogs ever obtained for an American show.

Among the tried and true will be found "Champion Helios von Wurttemberg," who has been unanimously elected to the position of best Great Dane in America. This distinction has not been accorded, however, without a struggle. For Mr. Helios von Wurttemberg, a big, dark dog with a wonderful fawn coat and a personality that makes him a favorite everywhere. He has won for his owner, Karl Bjurman, a string of prizes and championship points and under several judges was chosen the recipient of the special prize for the best of all breeds.

Among the fox terriers will be found Daniel S. Riker's rare little wire-haired terrier, "Bobby," bred by Dan Linn of Port Huron, Mich. Although "Bobby" is still a baby she has been a clever winner in puppy, novice and American bred classes at shows in her country. She has the distinction also of having beaten some of the cranks twice her age and experience. Louise is considered by many persons who know to be the best wire-haired bitch ever bred in America.

Another splendid wire-haired terrier to be among those present is Alfred B. Moelke's "Killean Orange," a big, showsy Alredale with a head that cannot be beaten on either side of the Atlantic.

Orange's only fault seems to be that he is a little light in color and this is only objectionable to those who do not like the bolder shades. Aside from color the big Alredale is considered a corker by everyone and he has been a big winner here and abroad.

Miss Amy L. Bonham will show her splendid bloodhound, "Kendall," and a dalmatian, "Cassidy," which she has won at the West End. Bonham has a wonderful head, a hard coat and excellent body conformation. He has been a big success in private life as well as in the show ring, for he is the most numerous winner here and abroad.

Miss Mary W. Turner will show her beautiful, dark-colored, French bulldog, "Dollie," which she has won at the West End. Turner has a wonderful head, a hard coat and excellent body conformation. He has been a big success in private life as well as in the show ring, for he is the most numerous winner here and abroad.

Other well known exhibitors are Mrs. Augustus C. Chubb, L. I., a Dalmatian, "Kendall," and a French bulldog, "Cassidy," which she has won at the West End. Bonham has a wonderful head, a hard coat and excellent body conformation. He has been a big success in private life as well as in the show ring, for he is the most numerous winner here and abroad.

THESE DOGS WILL VIE FOR RIBBONS AT MONMOUTH SHOW THIS WEEK

Champion Helios von Wurttemberg, owned by Karl Bjurman of Guttenburg, N. J. One of the best Great Danes now being bred.
Scottish terrier, Balgownie, owned by Henry T. Fleitman.
One of Alfred B. Moelke's favorite Alredale Terriers. This clever dog goes by the kennel name of Killlean Orange.

Alfred Refuses to Eat Until Mrs. Batts Lets Her at Table.

Walter Batts, of Woodliffe, Long Island, is not only a dog fancier but a dog lover. He has a wonderful fawn-colored dog named Alfred, who has a personality that makes him a favorite everywhere. He has won for his owner, Karl Bjurman, a string of prizes and championship points and under several judges was chosen the recipient of the special prize for the best of all breeds.

Champion Gussie, Jr., Dies.

The celebrated French bull champion Gussie, Jr., died July 2 in the home of his owner, William A. Quirk of Boston, N. J. The little white bull, who had been entered in the Hartsdale Cemetery, where a suitable headstone marks the last resting place of a true friend. Gussie, Jr. was only seven years old, but he was afflicted with partial paralysis, which obstinately resisted all treatment.

Mrs. Thorpe Versatile Judge.

Mrs. M. Thorpe has had many of the toy and other breeds listed to her at the Atlantic City dog show and with E. E. Lewis, Jr., will judge the unclassified specials. Mrs. Thorpe has judged at many of the largest shows on both sides of the Atlantic and is considered an expert. She has been a big success in private life as well as in the show ring, for he is the most numerous winner here and abroad.
